Opportunity to speak about Shropshire Stroke Services

Healthwatch Shropshire would like to hear about local people's experiences of accessing and using Shropshire stroke services.

Jane Randall-Smith, Chief Officer, said: "We want to hear of people's experiences, good and bad, of stroke services in Shropshire, including access to information and on-going treatment and care."

People can let Healthwatch Shropshire know what they think about local services by phone 01743 237884, by post 'freepost HEALTHWATCH SHROPSHIRE', by email enquiries@healthwatchshropshire.co.uk or online at www.healthwatchshropshire.co.uk.

Any feedback that is received from the public is used (anonymously and confidentially) by Healthwatch Shropshire in its engagement with local providers.

Healthwatch Shropshire is the local independent champion for health and social care. The organisation always welcomes comments about any publicly funded health and social care service.
